KANSAS CITY CRASH TAKES FIVE PERSONS

Department of Commerce
Hears Begin Probe of Central Line Wreck.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Ralph G. Lockwood, general superintendent of Airlines of the Aviation Corporation and former aeronautics supervisor of the Department of Commerce, will leave New York this afternoon for Kansas City to make a thorough investigation for the corporation of the crash last night of a central line monoplane near Fairfax airport, Kansas City, which resulted in death to five persons.

The Central Airlines is a subsidiary of the Aviation Corporation. Lockwood was instructed by Tom Hardin, director of operations, to make a complete study of the accident with a view of preventing a repetition.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—The crash of a Central air lines monoplane here late yesterday which brought death to four passengers and Pilot Eyles Lauderman, department of commerce officials today were to subject the wreckage to a minute scrutiny.

Similar to the recent crash that took 16 lives at Oceanside, Calif., the cabin plane burst into flames when it struck the ground. Although Fairfax airport attendants attempted to fight the blaze with fire extinguishers, the intense heat prevented close approach or rescue of the ship's occupants.

The plane, bound from Wichita, Kan., to Kansas City, was circling the Fairfax airport here preparatory to landing, when it suddenly plunged into the ground and burst into flames in the midst of a dense patch of undergrowth.

KILLED INSTANTLY
Witnesses said they thought all the occupants were killed instantly by the impact as the plane dove its nose into the ground.

The dead are:
Eyles Lauderman, Kansas City, pilot.
Roy McKinnon, Homewood, Ill.
Miss Margaret Dice, Oklahoma, City, Okla.

James Eggert, Woods theatre building, Chicago.
William Flynn, Kansas City.

The plane, a single-motored Travelair, was the second section of the regular afternoon passenger run between Wichita, Tulsa and Kansas City. The first plane took off from Wichita at 2:55 and landed here ten minutes before the second plane appeared and crashed.

Employees of the Universal air line, owners of the ship, began dismantling the wreckage after the bodies were extricated and prevented news photographers from taking pictures of the plane.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Authorities today began an investigation of the crash of a plane here late yesterday which brought death to Gordon Smith, student pilot and Jack Loessy, Boston aviator. The plane suddenly went into a nose dive and fell to earth.

NOTICE GIVEN TO CANDIDATES

Prosecutor Orders That Election
Expense Accounts
Must Be Filed.

Acting on an order by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt L. Crist announced Tuesday that all candidates in the November election, whether they were successful or not, must file an expense account with clerk of the board of elections, Lawrence Johnson, at once to be prosecuted.

The state law orders that expense accounts must be returned within a short time after the election but only a few of the candidates in Pickaway county have even yet filed their accounts.

A fine and imprisonment is provided for in the statutes for failure to file an expense account, and in several parts of the state affidavits have already been filed for failure to state expenses.

Capital Hears Doran May Leave Service

From the Capitol's dry law controversy there emerged a report that Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran will retire from the government service when the enforcement unit, of which he is chief, is transferred from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

REID, YOUNG TO HUNT EIELSON

Fliers Attempt Long Flight—
Hops For Safety of Men Abandoned.

NONE, Alaska, Jan. 28.—Capt. T. M. (Pat) Reid and Edward Young today were to attempt a flight to the wreckage of the Eielson plane 90 miles southeast of North Cape, Siberia, to aid in the hunt for the bodies of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, Arctic fliers who are thought to have died in the crash.

Reid and Young yesterday dug through deep snow drifts that all but hid the smashed plane, but no trace of the bodies was found. Pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Gillam, who discovered the plane Saturday, flew to the scene yesterday with four men who dug and prodded the drifts in their quest for the bodies.

Crosson and Gillam, in their report filed from the ice-bound schooner Nanuk, declared they were certain the plane was the one flown by Eielson while he was ferrying the crew and cargo of the Nanuk to shore.

The two fliers believe both occupants of the plane were hurled to their deaths when the plane struck, for they found parts of the motor 100 feet from the wreckage.

MRS. BUCKLEY IS CANDIDATE

Many Dayton Persons Ask
Woman To Try To Vindicate
Her Husband.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 28.—Mrs. Bert B. Buckley, wife of the former state treasurer, who is serving a term of two years, six months and one day in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, following his conviction in a liquor bribing case, may be the next treasurer of Ohio.

Buckley was forced to resign his post, shortly after he began serving his second term, by Governor Cooper. He has served nearly three months of his sentence, which was imposed by Judge Benson W. Hough of the federal district court.

It is reported that certain organized groups in Dayton, who believe that Buckley was "railroaded" into the penitentiary because of his political aspirations, are boosting Mrs. Buckley for the nomination at the 1930 primary.

Her nomination and subsequent candidacy for treasurer would be based on a "vindication" platform, in which she would ask the voters to vote for her as an attestation of her husband's innocence.

C. COLE SERVICES TO BE WEDNESDAY

GEN. DE RIVERA RESIGNS POST

Dictator of Spain Since 1923
Hand Resignation To King Alfonso.

MADRID, Jan. 28.—General Primo De Rivera, premier and dictator of Spain since 1923, has tendered his resignation to King Alfonso, it was reported here today.

The report was without official confirmation. The report indicated that the recent canvass made by Premier De Rivera, among the principal army leaders throughout Spain as to whether he should remain in office had resulted in an unfavorable verdict.

Primo De Rivera announced some months ago that he would shortly relinquish his post and turn over the dictatorship to a successor who would be able to carry out his domestic and foreign policies.

At that time, however, he indicated it would be many months before the country would be in a sufficiently stable state to make his resignation possible.

OPEN SESSION OF ARMAMENT MEET CALLED

United States Leads Way To Get Discussion of Parley
Started.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.
LONDON, Jan. 28.—Apparently becoming weary of the interminable Franco-Italian debate within the secrecy of the "Big Five" meetings, the American viewpoint was thrust suddenly into the picture this morning with the result that a plenary session of the naval disarmament conference was called for Thursday, notwithstanding the fact that the parley as yet has no agenda to work upon.

STIMSON MOVES
The plenary session was voted on a motion made by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief of the American delegation.

The practical result of this unusual procedure is to force the discussion into the open, for it was also decided—on American initiative—that the press will be admitted to Thursday's session.

The entire army of newspapermen present, numbering about 300, naturally cannot possibly be crowded into Queen Anne's drawing room, where the session will be held, but each country will have adequate representation.

The first task of the Thursday meeting will be to ratify the selection of the Big Five's permanent steering committee, to hold office during the tenure of the conference.

It was pointed out that the alphabetical arrangement of procedure will give the United States a decided edge if it chooses to mold the progress of the conference, as this country is listed as America, and thus takes the floor before the others.

Because of this fact, the American delegates will be able to bring up the subject of cruiser cuts before battleships are discussed.

CURB CRITICISM
Thursday's plenary session, coupled with the presence of the press, is designed partly to curb the growing criticism over the slowness of the conference and the apparent lack of progress since the opening in the House of Lords just a week ago today.

There is some question as to how the press representation will be worked out, but it is likely a few newspapermen from each nation will be admitted to the conference, while the others listen in by means of an amplifier arrangement in the big press workroom.

No official explanation was made as to the reason for calling the plenary session, but it was beginning to be painfully evident that little progress was recorded at the secret meetings where all felt free to bring up any questions they desired.

Forcing matters into the open is expected to put the brake on some questions which in American eyes are extraneous and have little bearing on the primary purpose of the conference, which is to limit auxiliary fleets.

Meanwhile the private discussions are to continue among the heads of the delegations. Prime Minister MacDonald is to meet the Japanese and French delegates at different hours this afternoon at his chambers in the House of Commons, where the parliamentary situation is at present keeping him occupied.

CHANGE TIME OF ARLEDGE SERVICE

Funeral services for William F. Arledge, aged 73, who died at his home Monday at 2 a.m., will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Episcopal church instead of 3 p.m. at the Rinehart chapel. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

IS ADMINISTRATOR

Attorney George W. Morrison of Ashville was appointed administrator of the estate of the late Ralph Hoover of Ashville in probate court Monday.

The estate is estimated to be worth $2000.

Judge E. A. Brown appointed L. L. Crumley, William Crumley and W. O. Dountz as appraisers of the estate.

Mrs. Harry Lewis has arrived here from a visit with relatives in Detroit.

ANNUAL MEETING OF OHIO CRIPPLED SOCIETY, FEB. 6

Fred C. Clark of the local Rotary Club announced Tuesday that the tenth annual conference of the Ohio society for crippled children will be held at the Hotel Gibson in Cincinnati, on Thursday, Feb. 6.

The program for the meeting will be an elaborate one with speakers from throughout the state. The session will open at 10 a.m. with invocation, followed by a welcoming of delegates, response and a report of officers. The first report will be of the president, Carroll H. Pefferman, Cincinnati; the second by the executive secretary, Walter B. Underwood, who addressed the Rotary club here recently; the third by the treasurer, S. H. Squire, of Elyria.

The key note address will be by Edgar F. "Daddy" Allen, president of the international society for crippled children.

The afternoon session will be held at the crippled children school starting at 2 p.m. An address will be given by Miss Ann Logan, of Miami College, Oxford, O. Ten minute talks will be given by John L. Clifton, director of education, Charles A. Neil, M. D. director of health, and Hal H. Griswold, director of welfare, who was the Rotary speaker here a week ago.

THOMAS TO TALK
The evening session will be held at the Hotel Gibson with an address by Rev. James Thomas, D. D. pastor of Hyde Park Community church, Cincinnati, as the feature. Several short talks will also be given.

Any local persons who know of crippled children who need care are to get in touch with Fred Clark or the probate court.

Through the state department of public welfare, over 2,742 crippled children in Ohio have been given physical relief since 1921. The state department of public health in cooperation with local health units has had under observation during the same period, over 13,320 crippled children scattered throughout the state.

According to data given out by the state department of education recently, there are 63 special classes for crippled children in 27 Ohio cities. There are 15 special classes for crippled children in hospitals where crippled children are cared for. Ninety-six crippled children are receiving home instruction.

DETROIT COPS ARREST SEVEN

Roundup Believed To Have Put Halt To Attempt To Rob Soldiers' Home.

DETROIT, Jan. 28.—One man was wounded, two police officers narrowly escaped death and seven men were in jail today as the result of a gang roundup in Detroit suburbs.

Police believe they frustrated a plan to rob the Old Soldiers and Sailors' Home at Sandusky, O., of from $5,000 to $10,000 worth of jewelry, $5,000 to $10,000 worth of narcotics and from $10,000 to $40,000 in cash.

The roundup was the result of a letter from an unknown man in St. Louis to Cyril Hansen, former patrolman, which fell into police hands. The letter told of the burglary opportunities offered by the Soldiers and Sailors' Home.

"The place has never been robbed because no one knows that there is any dough there," the letter read. After describing the buildings and location of three safes, the unknown writer said "two doctors are upstairs. You go up and shake them down and tie them up."

Police are attempting to connect four of the men arrested with the murder of August Frederick, bartender, in an alleged speakeasy here Nov. 21 of last year.

M. C. WARREN, SCHOOL HEAD, GIVES NOTICE

Ruling of Attorney General
Will Effect 175 To 200
County Men.

As an aftermath to the numerous fatal bus accidents which have taken heavy toll of Ohio's school children, an order was issued by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman from his office in Columbus that all school bus drivers must obtain chauffeurs' licenses by taking an examination which will be held in the high school building here Saturday at 9 a.m.

According to county superintendent of schools, M. C. Warren, this ruling effects between 175 and 200 drivers in Pickaway county alone. Of this number approximately 100 are employed as regular bus operators while the balance is made up of substitutes for the regular drivers.

REPRESENTATIVES HERE
Howard Allen, Washington, C. H. and Nolin Hathaway, also of Washington, C. H., inspectors of the motor vehicles department of Ohio, conferred with Superintendent Warren Monday, when plans were laid for the examination here Saturday.

Following is a notice issued by Mr. Warren to his drivers throughout the county Tuesday, Circleville, Ohio, Jan. 28, 1930.

NOTICE TO ALL DRIVERS OF SCHOOL BUSES, AND TO THEIR SUBSTITUTES.

The Secretary of State, Clarence J. Brown, has, through his representatives, today asked me to advise all truck drivers and all substitutes that each and every one of them must obtain a Chauffeur's License in order to qualify as driver of a school bus.

Each driver and substitute must first take a physical examination and obtain a physician's certificate covering such examination. Blanks for this purpose will be provided and may be obtained at the school house in the respective district served by the driver.

A Primer of Laws of Ohio relating to motor vehicles will also be provided each driver. Each driver should read this primer carefully as it will be a great aid in answering many questions which will probably be asked on examination.

Next Saturday morning, February 1, at 9:00 o'clock all drivers and substitutes are expected to meet at the high school building in Circleville, for their examination. Representatives of the Secretary of State will be there to conduct the examination.

When drivers and substitutes present themselves next Saturday morning the physician's certificate is the only blank that is to be ready by that time and must be presented, properly filled out and signed by the physician. At the examination, the application blank and all other blanks must be filled out in the presence of the examiner. The questions will be furnished by the Secretary of State and distributed Saturday morning.

In summary:
1. Secure a blank and have the Physician's Certificate ready by Saturday morning, February 1.
2. Secure, and read the Primer.
3. Bring the application blank, not filled out.
4. Fill out the application blank in the presence of the examiner Saturday morning.
5. Present yourself for examination at 9 o'clock Feb. 1.

All examination papers and other blanks will be sent to Columbus for grading and inspection. License certificates and badges will be mailed to the successful applicants.

Points not made clear in this letter will cheerfully be explained upon request.

Yours very truly,
M. C. WARREN,
County Superintendent.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

Fred Baird, Deer Creek, twp., was taken to Grant hospital, Columbus, Tuesday, for observation. The trip was made in the C. M. Hall ambulance.

Carmel Hospital After Year's Illness.

Noah Seimers, aged 44, well known Stoutsville resident, died at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, Monday at 7:30 a.m. after an illness of one year.

He was born in Stoutsville on March 4, 1885, and had been a lifelong resident of that village. He was the son of Andrew and Lucinda Hartsaugh Seimers.

On June 30, 1910, he was married to Mrs. Ada Wolfe of Stoutsville, who survives him. Two children, Marcelle and Wade of Columbus, and a step-daughter, Aliene Wolfe of Springfield, also survives.

He is also survived by the following brothers and sisters, Chester and Andrew Seimers, Stoutsville, Omer of Circleville; Mrs. R. Leist, of Amanda; George of Rossville, Ill.; Harley, Lancaster; John, Circleville; Elmer, Circleville, Will; Spokane, Wash., and Margaret Leist, of Circleville.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Stoutsville Evangelical church with Rev. D. S. Mills officiating. Burial will be in Maple Hill cemetery by E. M. Crites.

SHERIFF RETURNS FROM ST. LOUIS

Sheriff Frank Davis and Ben Gordon returned from St. Louis at 3 a.m. Tuesday where they went to arrest Roland H. Ward for removing mortgaged goods from the state. They made a quick trip leaving here early Sunday and returning at 3 a.m. Tuesday.

OPEN SESSION OF ARMAMENT MEET CALLED

United States Leads Way To Get Discussion of Parley
Started.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.
LONDON, Jan. 28.—Apparently becoming weary of the interminable Franco-Italian debate within the secrecy of the "Big Five" meetings, the American viewpoint was thrust suddenly into the picture this morning with the result that a plenary session of the naval disarmament conference was called for Thursday, notwithstanding the fact that the parley as yet has no agenda to work upon.

STIMSON MOVES
The plenary session was voted on a motion made by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief of the American delegation.

The practical result of this unusual procedure is to force the discussion into the open, for it was also decided—on American initiative—that the press will be admitted to Thursday's session.

The entire army of newspapermen present, numbering about 300, naturally cannot possibly be crowded into Queen Anne's drawing room, where the session will be held, but each country will have adequate representation.

The first task of the Thursday meeting will be to ratify the selection of the Big Five's permanent steering committee, to hold office during the tenure of the conference.

It was pointed out that the alphabetical arrangement of procedure will give the United States a decided edge if it chooses to mold the progress of the conference, as this country is listed as America, and thus takes the floor before the others.

Because of this fact, the American delegates will be able to bring up the subject of cruiser cuts before battleships are discussed.

CURB CRITICISM
Thursday's plenary session, coupled with the presence of the press, is designed partly to curb the growing criticism over the slowness of the conference and the apparent lack of progress since the opening in the House of Lords just a week ago today.

There is some question as to how the press representation will be worked out, but it is likely a few newspapermen from each nation will be admitted to the conference, while the others listen in by means of an amplifier arrangement in the big press workroom.

No official explanation was made as to the reason for calling the plenary session, but it was beginning to be painfully evident that little progress was recorded at the secret meetings where all felt free to bring up any questions they desired.

Forcing matters into the open is expected to put the brake on some questions which in American eyes are extraneous and have little bearing on the primary purpose of the conference, which is to limit auxiliary fleets.

Meanwhile the private discussions are to continue among the heads of the delegations. Prime Minister MacDonald is to meet the Japanese and French delegates at different hours this afternoon at his chambers in the House of Commons, where the parliamentary situation is at present keeping him occupied.

CHANGE TIME OF ARLEDGE SERVICE

Funeral services for William F. Arledge, aged 73, who died at his home Monday at 2 a.m., will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Episcopal church instead of at 3 p.m. at the Rinehart chapel. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

IS ADMINISTRATOR

Attorney George W. Morrison of Ashville was appointed administrator of the estate of the late Ralph Hoover of Ashville in probate court Monday.

The estate is estimated to be worth $2000.

Judge E. A. Brown appointed T. L. Crumley, William Crumley and W. O. Dountz as appraisers of the estate.

Mrs. Harry Lewis has arrived home from a visit with relatives in Detroit.

ANNUAL MEETING OF OHIO CRIPPLED SOCIETY, FEB. 6

Fred C. Clark of the local Rotary Club announced Tuesday that the tenth annual conference of the Ohio society for crippled children will be held at the Hotel Gibson in Cincinnati, on Thursday, Feb. 6.

The program for the meeting will be an elaborate one with speakers from throughout the state.

The session will open at 10 a.m. with invocation, followed by a welcoming of delegates, response and a report of officers. The first report will be of the president, Carroll H. Peterman, Cincinnati; the second by the executive secretary, Walter B. Underwood, who addressed the Rotary club here recently; the third by the treasurer, S. H. Squire, of Elyria.

The key note address will be by Edgar F. "Daddy" Allen, president of the international society for crippled children.

The afternoon session will be held at the crippled children school starting at 2 p.m.

An address will be given by Miss Ann Logan, of Miami College, Oxford, O. Ten minute talks will be given by John L. Clifton, director of education, Charles A. Neil, M. D. director of health, and Hal H. Griswold, director of welfare, who was the Rotary speaker here a week ago.

THOMAS TO TALK
The evening session will be held at the Hotel Gibson with an address by Rev. James Thomas, D. D. pastor of Hyde Park Community church, Cincinnati, as the feature.

DETROIT COPS ARREST SEVEN
Roundup Believed To Have Put Halt To Attempt To Rob Soldiers' Home.

DETROIT, Jan. 28.—One man was wounded, two police officers narrowly escaped death and seven men were in jail today as the result of a gang round-up in Detroit suburbs.

Police believe they frustrated a plan to rob the Old Soldiers and Sailors' Home at Sandusky, O., of from $5,000 to $10,000 worth of jewelry, $5,000 to $10,000 worth of narcotics and from $10,000 to $40,000 in cash.

The roundup was the result of a letter from an unknown man in St. Louis to Cyril Hamson, former patrolman, which fell into police hands. The letter told of the burglary opportunities offered by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home.

"The place has never been robbed because no one knows that there is any dough there," the letter read. After describing the buildings and location of three safes, the unknown writer said: "two doctors are upstairs. You go up and shake them down and tie them up."

Police are attempting to connect four of the men arrested with the murder of August Frederick, bartender, in an alleged speakeasy here Nov. 21 of last year.

M. C. WARREN, SCHOOL HEAD, GIVES NOTICE

Ruling of Attorney General
Will Effect 175 To 200
County Men.

As an aftermath to the numerous fatal bus accidents which have taken heavy toll of Ohio's school children, an order was issued by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman from his office in Columbus that all school bus drivers must obtain chauffeurs' licenses by taking an examination which will be held in the high school building here Saturday at 9 a.m.

According to county superintendent of schools, M. C. Warren, this ruling effects between 175 and 200 drivers in Pickaway-co alone. Of this number approximately 100 are employed as regular bus operators while the balance is made up of substitutes for the regular drivers.

REPRESENTATIVES HERE
Howard Allen, Washington C. H. and Nolin Hathaway, also of Washington C. H., inspectors of the motor vehicles department of Ohio, conferred with Superintendent Warren Monday, when plans were laid for the examination here Saturday.

Following is a notice issued by Mr. Warren to his drivers throughout the county Tuesday.

Circleville, Ohio,
Jan. 28, 1930.

NOTICE TO ALL DRIVERS
OF SCHOOL BUSES, AND
TO THEIR SUBSTITUTES.
The Secretary of State, Clarence J. Brown, has, through his representatives, today asked me to advise all truck drivers and all substitutes that each and every one of them must obtain a Chauffeur's License in order to qualify as driver of a school bus.

Each driver and substitute must first take a physical examination and obtain a physician's certificate covering such examination. Blanks for this purpose will be provided and may be obtained at the school house in the respective district served by the driver.

A Primer of Laws of Ohio relating to motor vehicles will also be provided each driver. Each driver should read this primer carefully as it will be a great aid in answering many questions which will probably be asked on examination.

Next Saturday morning, February 1, at 9:00 o'clock all drivers and substitutes are expected to meet at the high school building in Circleville, for their examination. Representatives of the Secretary of State will be there to conduct the examination.

When drivers and substitutes present themselves next Saturday morning the physician's certificate is the only blank that is to be ready by that time and must be presented, properly filled out and signed by the physician. At the examination, the application blank and all other blanks must be filled out in the presence of the examiner. The questions will be furnished by the Secretary of State and distributed Saturday morning.

In summary:
1. Secure a blank and have the Physician's Certificate ready by Saturday morning, February 1.
2. Secure, and read the Primer.

3. Bring the application blank, not filled out.
4. Fill out the application blank in the presence of the examiner Saturday morning.

5. Present yourself for examination at 9 o'clock Feb. 1. All examination papers and other blanks will be sent to Columbus for grading and inspection. License certificates and badges will be mailed to the successful applicants.

Points not made clear in this letter will cheerfully be explained upon request.

Yours very truly,
M. C. WARREN,
County Superintendent.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

Fred Baird, Deer Creek-twp, was taken to Grant hospital, Columbus, Tuesday, for observation. The trip was made in the C. E. Hill ambulance.

SCOTT LEAVES FOR FLORIDA

Big Englishman Thinks He Can Knock Jack Sharkey Out In Bout.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Eager to embrace the biggest opportunity of his career, Phil Scott, heavyweight champion of Great Britain, leaves here today for Florida where he will begin training at once for his 15-round extravaganza with Jack Sharkey in Miami on Feb. 27. Victory for the Englishman would put him in line for a crack at Max Schmeling of Germany for the heavyweight championship of the world. Scott will train in two places—at fashionable Palm Beach and at Miami Beach. The idea of strutting Scott before the society fight fans of Palm Beach is part of the ballyhoo that will gain momentum from now on. It was conceived by Scott's imaginative and wily American manager, Jimmy Johnston, who has preceded the English fighter to Florida to make the advance arrangements. Scott fell in with the plan willingly and has bought himself several pairs of white pants.

Sharkey is already on the battleground. For the past two weeks the Boston ex-sailor has been whiling away idle hours on the sands of Miami Beach and on the golf links. He does not take Scott too seriously. In fact, he secretly thinks the Englishman is a mugg and made to order for him. That's why he insisted on Scott in preference to Tuffy Griffiths.

With equal contempt, Scott says he will beat Sharkey. Asked if he planned to outbox the American, the Englishman scornfully declared: "Outbox him? Why should I do that when I can knock him out?"

Scott's plan of battle against Sharkey is comparatively simple, as he outlined it to International News Service.

"Sharkey is going to come to me from the opening bell, figuring he can bull me," Scott predicted. "Now, I have studied the art of boxing and I do not believe there is a man in the ring today who can outbox me. I will keep my left in Sharkey's face and shoot through rights that will set him back on his heels."

TIGERS BOOK NELSONVILLE

Girls' Game At London On Feb. 28 Cancelled On Account of Tourney.

Principal E. I. Gephart of the high school reports that Nelsonville has been added to the boys' basketball schedule for a game to be played there on Friday night, Feb. 8.

Nelsonville has a good basketball team and when the request was made for the game local officials quickly took it up.

At the same time, Gephart announced that the girls' game to be played at London on Feb. 28 had been cancelled on account of the county basketball tournament being held there on that date.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS PREPARE FOR THREE CONTESTS FRIDAY

Working like a bunch of demons, the Circleville high school basketball teams are preparing for one of the biggest week ends they have had this season when three games will be played in the S. Court-st gym Friday evening.

KINGSTON

In loving memory of Miss Helen E. Robinson who passed away at her home in Chillicothe in the Foulke Block on Tuesday morning, January 21, 1930. Miss Robinson was the daughter of Wilson and Isabel Maxwell Robinson and was born at the old Robinson homestead in Green-twp Oct. 6, 1853. Miss Robinson spent the earlier part of her life on the farm and after the death of her brother's wife cared for his children, Mattie, Mary and Wilson Robinson whom many friends will remember and who have been dead a number of years until they were grown, then she moved to Kingston where she lived for a number of years and later moved to Chillicothe where she resided until her death, having lived in the Foulke block for 12 years. She was of a very quiet, unassuming but loving disposition and had many friends who will sadly miss her. Her nearest relatives are Paul and Roger Ross grandchildren of her brother, J. M. Robinson who preceded her to the grave five years ago. Her next nearest relatives are the Maxwells. Miss Robinson was tenderly cared for in her last short illness by Mrs. Olsie Hankins and Dr. J. W. Maxwell. Funeral services were held in the Salem Reformed church on Wednesday afternoon conducted by A. Ware and the funeral oration was delivered by Rev. Theodore Franke with interment in the adjoining cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Yapple, Mrs. Anne Hanowalt, Mrs. J. D. Muddell and Miss Sallie Maxwell attended the funeral services held for Miss Helen Robinson on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira McAfee and sons, Garold, James and Denton and Jesse Howard Senff were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Senff in Chillicothe on Sunday.

Miss Agnes Davis, a student at Ohio State university, spent the week end with her grandmother, Mrs. Geo. Davis.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Walters on Jan. 11, 1930, a daughter.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Young on Jan. 14, 1930, a son.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saul on Jan. 17, 1930, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hinton and children Dorothy and Robert of Columbus were the guests of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Hinton at Windsor on Tuesday.

Mrs. Ira Blaine, who has spent the last two weeks with Mr. Charles Blaine and family at Massillon, will join her husband at Nelson, W. Va. on Feb. 1st.

Mrs. Mary Lewis was a visitor to Columbus on Friday.

A very interesting meeting of the Epworth League was held on Sunday evening with Gerald Imker, the leader. The meeting opened with song, "The Ninety and Nine" followed by the scripture lesson read by Gladys Beavers and another song, "More Love to Thee." The subject was "The Priceless Heritage of An Optimist" and was discussed by Helen Beavers. A paper "A Work for a Lifetime in China" read by Althea Hettinger. "The Morning Calm" another paper, was read by Louise Raub. "The Contribution Opportunity" an article was read by Irene Hall. After singing "Yield Not to Temptation" the meeting closed by all repeating the benediction.

The biggest game of the evening will see the Tiger varsity tangling with Bexley's fast Central Buckeye league aggregation. Bexley has been going along in a great style and is in a tie for the top rung on the new loop.

With three exceptionally good basketball players in Sweet, forward, Dickey, center and Maxwell, guard, the Columbus suburbanites have been just about as tough as any team in the league.

If the Tigers can bump this Bexley organization they will be back in the running for the league title.

GIRLS PLAY LANCASTER
The next big contest is between the Circleville girls and the tough Lancaster tossers.

Last Friday everyone was ready to sit back and watch Grandview's girls drum the Rains-coached tossers but starting at the first whistle the local girls showed so much speed and offensive power that Grandview couldn't touch them.

Lancaster is said to have a mighty team and a real battle is on hand.

The first game will be between the Circleville boy reserves and the Bexley reserves. Coach Guthrie has been working a second combination which should function pretty smoothly by Friday evening.

Skirts go up and down a good deal like stocks, and in both cases it's mob psychology.

GORDONS, CLOUDS TO STEAL THUNDER IN C. A. C. GAMES

A real treat of basketball is on the books for Circleville's fans Thursday evening at C.A.C. when three games will be played.

The biggest game of the evening will see the Club tangling with the Hocking Glass cagers from Lancaster. This tilt should be a good one as both team have been organized for quite a while and know their players.

The Glassers have been along in good shape and although a lot isn't known of their team it is certain to provide plenty of opposition.

But from a fan's standpoint that game isn't going to hold the spotlight much in this evening of court games.

For just one reason, the Gordon Tires and the Grant Flying Clouds play their first game of the season and what a game that promises to be.

GORDONS STRONG

The Gordons have been strengthened considerably in the past few weeks and on paper have much the best team. But on paper and on a basketball court are two different places and the form those Clouds show against their larger and more experienced opponents may have a lot to do with the outcome of the contest.

The Gordons starting lineup will be Don White and Howard White at the forwards, Joe Barnes at center, Dordy Courtright and Cum Robinson at the guards. Doc Hanley, John Rooney, Turk Baucher and any other courtman George Crum has on his roster will get into the game.

The Clouds lineup is not decided yet although it is almost sure Dutch Wefler and Jack Heeter will be at forwards, Glitt at center and Maloney at one defensive post. Phillips, Wilson and Liston may each get the call for the other defensive job with Ray List ready to break in at either forward or guard.

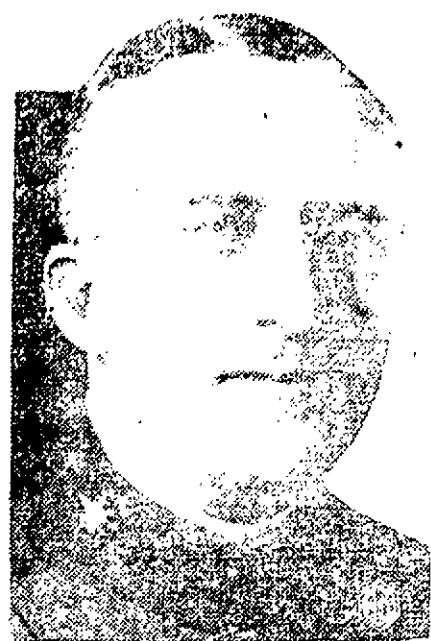

EMERY AND LUTHERAN

The first preliminary of the evening will see the Lutheran Brotherhood quintet tangling with the Emery club, made up of high school boys.

The game starts at 7 p.m. and if Rhodes and Co. is hitting as regularly as they have been recently they should cop the gon-falon.

Anyway anyone who goes to the C.A.C. Thursday evening will see more competitive basketball than he has seen for a long while with these three games on the books.

Drum May Fill Post Inspector General

Brigadier Hugh A. Drum has been recommended by the Secretary of War and nominated by President Hoover as Inspector-General of the Army with the rank of major-general for a term of four years. Upon formal appointment by the Senate, the new Inspector-General will succeed Major-General William C. Rivers.

Foiled by Moderation! THE HEARTLESS SHADOW that threatens the modern figure

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Avoid the snags along the common-sense path to fitness and fashion. Don't let over-indulgence deprive you of the tantalizing contour of the modern figure. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately—when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky Strike instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain the graceful, modern figure with its captivating curves.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

GIRLS PLAY LANCASTER
The next big contest is between the Circleville girls and the tough Lancaster tossers.

Last Friday everyone was ready to sit back and watch Grandview's girls drum the Rains-coached tossers but starting at the first whistle the local girls showed so much speed and offensive power that Grandview couldn't touch them.

Lancaster is said to have a mighty team and a real battle is on hand.

The first game will be between the Circleville boy reserves and the Bexley reserves. Coach Guthrie has been working a second combination which should function pretty smoothly by Friday evening.

Skirts go up and down a good deal like stocks, and in both cases it's mob psychology.

CORDONS, CLOUDS TO STEAL THUNDER IN C. A. C. GAMES

A real treat of basketball is on the books for Circleville's fans Thursday evening at C.A.C. when three games will be played.

The biggest game of the evening will see the Club tangling with the Hocking Glass cagers from Lancaster. This tilt should be a good one as both teams have been organized for quite a while and know their players.

The Glassers have been along in good shape and although a lot isn't known of their team it is certain to provide plenty of opposition.

But from a fan's standpoint that game isn't going to hold the spotlight much in this evening of court games.

For just one reason, the Gordon Tires and the Grant Flying Clouds play their first game of the season and what a game that promises to be.

GORDONS STRONG
The Gordons have been strengthened considerably in the past few weeks and on paper have much the best team. But on paper and on a basketball court are two different places and the form those Clouds show against their larger and more experienced opponents may have a lot to do with the outcome of the contest.

The Gordons starting lineup will be Don White and Howard White at the forwards, Joe Barnes at center, Dordy Courtright and Cum Robinson at the guards. Doc Hanley, John Rooney, Turk Baucher and any other courtman George Crum has on his roster will get into the game.

The Clouds lineup is not decided yet although it is almost sure Dutch Weller and Jack Heeter will be at forwards, Glitt at center, and Maloney at one defensive post. Phillips, Wilson and Liston may each get the call for the other defensive job with Ray List ready to break in at either forward or guard.

EMERY AND LUTHERAN
The first preliminary of the evening will see the Lutheran Brotherhood quintet tangling with the Emery club, made up of high school boys.

The game starts at 7 p.m. and if Rhodes and Co., is hitting as regularly as they have been recently they should cop the gon-falun.

Anyway anyone who goes to the C.A.C. Thursday evening will see more competitive basketball than he has seen for a long while with these three games on the books.

Drum May Fill Post Inspector General

Brigadier Hugh A. Drum has been recommended by the Secretary of War and nominated by President Hoover as Inspector-General of the Army with the rank of major-general for a term of four years. Upon formal appointment by the Senate, the new inspector-general will succeed Major-General William C. Rivers.

Foiled by Moderation! THE HEARTLESS SHADOW that threatens the modern figure

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Avoid the snags along the common-sense path to fitness and fashion. Don't let over-indulgence deprive you of the tantalizing contour of the modern figure. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately—when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain the graceful, modern figure with its captivating curves.

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. WAR WITH BUGS IS MAJOR TOPIC

Fighting insects and diseases for possession of vegetable crops, is one of the principal occupations of vegetable growers. The warfare will get more attention than any other topic on the program of the 15th annual meeting of the Ohio Vegetable Growers' Association, which is to be held in connection with the 18th annual Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University here, February 3 to 7. The vegetable growers' meeting will be held on three days of the week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

The association program will be divided into three sections, one for potato growers, one for greenhouse men, and one for general vegetable gardeners. General sessions for all sections will also be held. The annual business meeting of the association, at which officers will be elected, will be held Thursday afternoon, February 6, and the annual banquet that evening.

Specialists in various phases of insect and disease control, and in cultural practices in vegetable gardening, will come from Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Washington, D. C., in addition to the members of the staffs of the horticultural, botany, and entomology departments of the University and the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster. A new feature of the association program will be daily conferences at which the specialists will meet any growers who have problems which they wish to discuss.

FURNISH MILK TO NEEDY CHILDREN

Miss Phelps Says Nourishment Given By City Benevolent Society.

A story in the Red and Black Saturday left the impression that the milk for the undernourished pupils in the public schools is being furnished by the Pickaway County Health League. Miss Charlotte Phelps, district nurse, explains that this is not true. The milk for the city schools is being furnished by the Circleville Benevolent society, and not by the county league. The county organization alone receives aid from the sale of the Red Cross Christmas seals. The Circleville Benevolent society depends entirely upon contributions and donations.

Miss Phelps is grateful for every gift large or small to the association, and wishes to thank the donor of $10 at Christmas time. At present there is no need and dental work to be done among the needy school children, for which money must be donated.

It Is Easy To End Fat

That is, in the right way, used by modern physicians. No abnormal exercise or diet, but help to a gland that is weak. The recent large reduction in excess fat has been largely due to this method. This modern method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. In almost every circle you can see the amazing change it brings. If over-fat, you owe yourself a trial of Marmola. Don't remain abnormal. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box states the formula and tells the reasons for results. Harold N. Beck, Editor of The Oceanside (California) Blade-Tribune, Says:

"Did you ever stop to think that we cannot do away with schools just because adults are educated and can teach their children the vital things of life; we cannot do away with churches because parents are religious and have Bibles which they could read to their children and train the younger ones in the creeds, doing away, thus, with ministers and churches; we cannot do away with banks by loaning money to one another, eliminating necessity for financial institutions; we cannot do away with merchants by learning to make home-spun garments, rustic furniture and any of the necessities of life which would make it possible to eliminate large scale manufacturing and retail merchants; we cannot do away with newspapers because everyone knows the place where they want to do business. It cannot be done.

Mexican Minister Must Leave Russia

A statement by General Estrada (above), Foreign Minister of Mexico, revealed that the Mexican Minister at Moscow had been ordered to leave Russia several days ago, and that all others in the Embassy personnel were directed to quit the Russian capital as an "act of protest." The break was brought about by recent Communist manifestations before Mexican embassies.

Lead Absorbs the Shock

In the construction of a skyscraper in New York city, 55 tons of lead was utilized in protecting the steel from shock, which also means that the comfort of the occupants has been taken care of. The metal is made use of in the form of a mattress between the steel and the foundation.

FURNISH MILK TO NEEDY CHILDREN

Miss Phelps Says Nourishment Given By City Benevolent Society.

A story in the Red and Black Saturday left the impression that the milk for the undernourished pupils in the public schools is being furnished by the Pickaway County Health League. Miss Charlotte Phelps, district nurse, explains that this is not true.

The milk for the city schools is being furnished by the Circleville Benevolent society, and not by the county league. The county organization alone receives aid from the sale of the Red Cross Christmas seals. The Circleville Benevolent society depends entirely upon contributions and donations.

Miss Phelps is grateful for every gift large or small to the association, and wishes to thank the donor of $10 at Christmas time. At present there is medical and dental work to be done among the needy school children, for which money must be donated.

It Is Easy To End Fat

That is, in the right way, used by modern physicians. No abnormal exercise or diet, but help to a gland that is weak. The recent large reduction in excess fat has been largely due to that method.

This modern method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. In almost every circle you can see the amazing change it brings. If over-fat, you owe yourself a trial of Marmola. Don't remain abnormal. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box states the formula and tells the reasons for results. Start growing thin, as your friends have done, at once.

MAKE IT SAFE FOR CHILDREN

The terrible bus tragedies that have filled the front pages of newspapers recently have been most unpleasant to read about and more unpleasant to think about. When we think of the mothers who have raised their children to school age and daily watch their progress in their school work, who have toiled so that their children might have the education that present day children should have, only to have their lives snuffed out by the carelessness of bus drivers.

The state's desire to have every driver of a school bus pass a chauffeur's examination is one step to help avoid a recurrence of these tragedies. Another step will be made when hazardous grade crossings are eliminated. But whatever action is taken cannot be made too soon, for nothing can replace those young lives that have been taken.

Pickaway-co. is fortunate in not having many of these dangerous crossings that must be crossed daily by these busses and the drivers, to date, have been careful enough to avoid such tragic happenings to bring sorrow to the homes of Pickaway-co.

The drivers of all automobiles should drive with utmost care where there is the slightest chance of danger and in Circleville more precaution is necessary in the school districts to complete the safety of the children going to and from school.

ARCHITECTURE FOR AMERICA

Chicago's World's Fair in 1933, alias "Century of Progress," is to be largely an architectural show. Chicago, says the general manager, will show the world new types of architecture and new methods in building. It will probably set building styles for the country.

That may be. There is a good opportunity. This nation is on a building spree, with no sign of a let-up. It is said that $10,000,000,000 may go into new construction this year. We are tearing down and rebuilding on an unprecedented scale. We are erecting public buildings and private homes ever more lavishly and beautifully.

Architecture is already our leading art, the one in which we can challenge the rest of the world today. Chicago presumably has the brains and can raise the money. Let it go ahead and provide its pioneer designs for the America of the future. Other cities are willing to be shown.

FEWER LYNCHINGS

Last year there were ten lynchings in this country. In 1892, less than 40 years ago, there were 255 lynchings. Comparison of those two records and study of the years between with their slow but fairly steady decline in lynchings show that progress in this matter is real.

There are probably several reasons for this improvement. Education and agitation against lynching, stiffening of public opinion and therefore of public officials—jailers, sheriffs, prosecutors, judges—have had considerable effect.

Lynching should not exist in a civilized community where legal justice moves promptly and surely. To condemn lynching is not to condone other crimes. Humanity, decency and justice are worth striving for. Their achievement in one field foreshadows their achievement in others. Thoughtful Americans hope that other crimes of violence may be checked as lynching has been.

CHAPTER XXXI.
"Oh, it's so nice to be with you again," Enid said as she and Pauline sat on Pauline's veranda with Dave. Enid sighed and looked off to the mountains which she loved. The sun was going down behind them.

"And I've something to tell you," she said, her eyes "I'm going to have a baby in April."

"Oh—Enid—I'm so happy for you," and Pauline's arms were around her in true sympathy, for Pauline had long wished for a child for herself. Enid had suddenly attained a revered importance in her eyes.

"That's great, Enid," said Dave proudly. "I hope you'll have to name him Richard Grant."

Richard Grant—her son—yes—she felt it would be a son and yet not quite sure. A little girl would be sweet—but a son for Dick.

"It's too bad Ned had to leave just now," said Pauline. "You're quite brave to have allowed him to go."

"I didn't tell him," explained Enid. "You see it was such a great chance for him and I knew that if I told him he would have tried to give it up. So I came out here to you and Pauline."

"I call that being a good sport," declared Dave, proud of his sister's apparent unselfishness.

"And then I wanted that doctor you told me about in San Francisco," added Enid.

"Dr. Gibbons—you couldn't do better. He's splendid—one of the best in the country."

"Will you go to a hospital?" asked Pauline.

"I thought I might take a little apartment," replied Enid.

"Well, there's one thing. You'll stay right here until it's time for it to happen," declared Dave.

"It would be lovely if you would let me," signed Enid. The picture of it—to be there in her little cabin—where Dick had held her in his arms. It seemed like their home. She had no other now.

"Just think," said Pauline. "Next week will be Christmas. I never can get used to it without cold weather and snow."

"It does seem strange," murmured Enid.

"Next year you'll have a Christmas tree for the baby," said Pauline wistfully.

"Yes," Enid smiled.

"Let's all try to get together for Christmas next year," suggested Dave. "This one is all wrong."

"Yes," agreed Pauline, "with Ned gone."

"And mother," whispered Enid. David put his hand on hers and they were quiet, thinking of the happy days of their childhood—the tree and burning candles Christmas night.

Christmas—Ned should have received his letter by now—or at least in a few days. She'd sent it early of the Old Company as Ned had directed. That was the quickest way. It would reach him surely at Panama. He and Dick were to be better for Christmas after making an anxious journey.

But no answer came at Christmas—no word—they must be on the high seas. She would have heard something, and not a radio—that was possible. But there were so far away and she was so far away—anything might happen.

It came on New Year's Eve. "Arrived Panama. Glorious news. Get home as soon as you can. Take care of yourself. All love, Ned."

And one from Dick to Dave: "Happy New Year to all."

"Dick."

Enid knew that message was for her. They sat in Pauline's cabin that evening and when it came near 11:30 Dave produced a bottle of champagne and there in the mountains—not a sound—no whistles or bells or people screaming—they saw New Year in "Happy New Year, Enid," said Dave, coming over to kiss his sister after he had kissed Pauline.

and held his face close to hers for a moment, "and here's to Richard Grant Grier."

Richard Grant Grier—Richard Grant—Enid's eyes filled and she raised her glass to Dave and Pauline with a brave effort at a smile.

Dave walked over to her cabin with her. Once there she sat down in front of the fire by herself. New Year's Eve had always impressed her with a certain feeling of awe—since she was a child she had felt a mystery about it—long years ago, when she was a little girl and heard the din of New York, she had always been just a little frightened.

A new year. Stepping over the threshold of a dark unknown caravansary—where would it lead her—and so alone.

She had always been nervous before sleeping in her cabin alone. But now it was conquered. She had to be brave. She could not be timid. She would be courageous for her son—her son. He must be brave and gallant—like like his father.

she have been his wife—why must he bow his head in shame in the midst of his rejoicing—what had he done?

Ned—what would they do? It had been hard enough to be with old Ned and feel his hand on his shoulder before—but now—

The days before sailing were full. Ned and Dick hardly spoke to each other. The minute he had learned through the company that Ned had left Chicago, Dick tried to reach Enid on the telephone—three thousand miles away—but it would be her voice—she must want to say something else to him. He'd tell her over the telephone that he loved her—loved her as he had never loved her before—and that whatever she did about telling Ned would be all-right—perhaps she would come to him without telling—that would be wrong—and Ned was on his way—

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

Additional proof that Ronald Colman is one of the finest actors on the screen in this era of talking pictures arrived at the Cliftona Theatre Sunday in "Condemned", his latest starring picture for Samuel Goldwyn. His performance of the handsome, gallant convict of this picture of life in prison accented just that combination of romantic appeal, understanding humor and genuine tragic appeal which have long been features of his acting.

The other members of the cast performed brilliantly as well. The producers seem to have ransacked the stunts of California for criminal types in the mass scenes of the French convicts, and Ann Harding as the appealing heroine made good use of both her extraordinary blond beauty and acting talent, in a striking contrast with the sordid surroundings of the picture.

Louis Wolheim turned in another of those well worked out characterizations which have made his villainous countenance a proverb in films. Dudley Digges, noted stage actor, as the brutal warden, brings a fine flavor to his first picture, and is said to have had a hand in its direction as well. "Condemned" would be an event in pictures even without the services of such a cast, since its locale and direction earn it an extraordinarily high place. Laid on Devil's Island, the notorious French penal colony on the coast of South America, it gave remarkable and well-exploited opportunities to director and scenario to exploit the picturesque possibilities of "The Island of Living Death." Pictorially, it is even more striking than Colman's latest triumph "Bulldog Drummond." The sound effects achieved in the storm scene sequence and the remarkable flexibility of the dialogue and sound effects in general make it a new departure on the talking screen.

Stockings should be long enough. It is important not to crowd any part of the foot. The heels of the shoes should be kept straight, not worn over. The posture of the foot is ruined if heels are not flat.

Don't put high heels on a young girl. They throw the body out of the correct posture. When she is older she will have to decide for herself, but in childhood, do you part to start the young girl right.

Children often have a hard time wearing shoes at night. Much comfort will be given by bathing the feet for ten minutes in hot water to which salt has been added. Bathing the feet often is good for everyone. The toes should be cut straight across. It is bad to cut the corners, next to the side of the foot.

Have your child's feet examined once in a while by a good chiropodist, or podiatrist. It is just as important as to see the dentist.

Correct posture makes for good health. Correct shoes help good posture.

Everybody should know that foot exercises are useful. They bring foot health. Standing on the toes, standing on the edges of the feet—these exercises help to make the feet strong and capable.

Curbing Mob Spirit
The expression "read the riot act" means to warn or reprimand. As early as 1715 England had a statute for preventing tumultuous and riotous assemblies. The act provided that in case of 12 persons or more unlawfully assembling and disturbing the peace, an officer could make proclamation of the general provisions of the riot act and call upon them to disperse. If they failed to obey, they were guilty of felony.

Colonial Money
In a colonial paper it says, "The price of 20 shillings, proc." What does proc. mean? The abbreviation probably stands for proclamation money, which was the name given to coin valued according to a table described in a proclamation of Queen Anne, 18th of June, 1704, in which the Spanish dollar of 1712 pennyweight was to be rated at 6 shillings in all the colonies.—Washington Star.

Old Custom Survives
It is still the custom in England to burn the effigy of Guy Fawkes on the fifth of November, Guy Fawkes day.

Nature's Decrees
In Nature there is no blemish but the mind; none can be called deformed but the unkind. Virtue is beauty.—Shakespeare.

MAKE IT SAFE FOR CHILDREN

The terrible bus tragedies that have filled the front pages of newspapers recently have been most unpleasant to read about and more unpleasant to think about. When we think of the mothers who have raised their children to school age and daily watch their progress in their school work, who have toiled so that their children might have the education that present day children should have, only to have their lives snuffed out by the carelessness of bus drivers.

The state's desire to have every driver of a school bus pass a chauffeur's examination is one step to help avoid a recurrence of these tragedies. Another step will be made when hazardous grade crossings are eliminated. But whatever action is taken cannot be made too soon, for nothing can replace those young lives that have been taken.

Pickaway-co is fortunate in not having many of these dangerous crossings that must be crossed daily by these busses and the drivers, to date, have been careful enough to avoid such tragic happenings to bring sorrow to the homes of Pickaway-co.

The drivers of all automobiles should drive with utmost care where there is the slightest chance of danger and in Circleville more precaution is necessary in the school districts to complete the safety of the children going to and from school.

ARCHITECTURE FOR AMERICA

Chicago's World's Fair in 1933, alias "Century of Progress," is to be largely an architectural show. Chicago, says the general manager, will show the world new types of architecture and new methods in building. It will probably set building styles for the country.

That may be. There is a good opportunity. This nation is on a building spree, with no sign of a let-up. It is said that $10,000,000,000 may go into new construction this year. We are tearing down and rebuilding on an unprecedented scale. We are erecting public buildings and private homes ever more lavishly and beautifully.

Architecture is already our leading art, the one in which we can challenge the rest of the world today. Chicago presumably has the brains and can raise the money. Let it go ahead and provide its pioneer designs for the America of the future. Other cities are willing to be shown.

FEWER LYNCHINGS

Last year there were ten lynchings in this country. In 1892, there were 255 lynchings. Comparison of those two records and study of the years between with their slow but fairly steady decline in lynchings show that progress in this matter is real.

There are probably several reasons for this improvement. Education and agitation against lynching, stiffening of public opinion and therefore of public officials—jailers, sheriffs, prosecutors, judges—have had considerable effect.

Lynching should not exist in a civilized community where legal justice moves promptly and surely. To condemn lynching is, not to condone other crimes. Humanity, decency and justice are worth striving for. Their achievement in one field foreshadows their achievement in others. Thoughtful Americans hope that other crimes of violence may be checked as lynching has been.

CHAPTER XXXI.

"Oh, it's so nice to be with you again," Enid said as she and Pauline sat on Pauline's veranda with Dave. Enid sighed and looked off to the mountains which she loved. The sun was going down behind them.

"And I've something to tell you," she lowered her eyes. "I'm going to have a baby in April."

"Oh—Enid—I'm so happy for you," and Pauline's arms were around her in true sympathy, for Pauline had long wished for a child for herself. Enid had suddenly attained a revered importance in her eyes.

"That's great, Enid," said Dave proudly. "I hope you'll have to name him Richard Grant." Richard Grant—her son—yes—she felt it would be a son and yet not quite his. A little girl would be sweet—but a son for Dick.

"It's too bad Ned had to leave just now," said Pauline. "You're quite brave to have allowed him to go."

"I didn't tell him," explained Enid. "You see it was such a great chance for him and I knew that if I told him he would have tried to give it up. So I came out here to you and Pauline."

"I call that being a good sport," declared Dave, proud of his sister's apparent unselfishness.

"And then I wanted that doctor you told me about in San Francisco," added Enid.

"Dr. Gibbons—you couldn't do better. He's splendid—one of the best in the country."

"Will you go to a hospital?" asked Pauline.

"I thought I might take a little apartment," replied Enid.

"Well, there's one thing. You'll stay right here until it's time for it to happen," declared Dave.

"It would be lovely if you would let me," sighed Enid. The peace of it—to be there in her little cabin—where Dick had held her in his arms. It seemed like their home. She had no other now.

"Just think," said Pauline. "Next week will be Christmas. I never can get used to it without cold weather and snow."

"It does seem strange," murmured Enid.

"Next year you'll have a Christmas tree for the baby," said Pauline wistfully.

"Yes," Enid smiled.

"Let's all try to get together for Christmas next year," suggested Dave. "This one is all wrong."

"Yes," agreed Pauline, "with Ned gone."

"And mother," whispered Enid. David put his hand on hers and they were quiet, thinking of the happy days of their childhood—the tree and burning candles Christmas night."

Christmas—Ned should have received her letter by now—or at least in a few days. She'd sent it care of the Oil Company as Ned had directed. That was the quickest way. They would forward it to him. It would reach him surely at Panama. He and Dick were to be there for Christmas, after making several stops en route.

But no answer came at Christmas—no word—they must be on the high seas. She would have heard something—why not a radio—that was possible. But then they were so far away and she was so far away—anything might happen. It came on New Year's Eve:

"Arrived Panama. Glorious news. God bless you. Happiest year of our lives. Take care of yourself. All love, Ned."

And one from Dick to Dave: "Happy New Year to all."

Enid knew that message was for her.

They sat in Pauline's cabin that evening and when it came near 11:30 Dave produced a bottle of champagne and there in the mountains—not a sound—no whistles or bells or people screaming—they saw the New Year in "Happy New Year, Enid," said Dave, coming over to kiss his sister after he had kissed Pauline.

and held his face close to hers for a moment, "and here's to Richard Grant Grier."

Richard Grant Grier—Richard Grant. Enid's eyes filled and she raised her glass to Dave and Pauline with a brave effort at a smile.

Dave walked over to her cabin with her. Once there she sat down in front of the fire by herself. New Year's Eve had always impressed her with a certain feeling of awe—since she was a child she had felt a mystery about it—long years ago, when she was a little girl and heard the din of New York, she had always been just a little frightened.

A new year. Stepping over the threshold of a dark unknown caravansary—where would it lead her—and so alone.

She had always been nervous before sleeping in her cabin alone. But now it was conquered. She had to be brave. She could not be timid. She would be courageous for her son—her son. He must be brave and gallant—like—like his father.

she have been his wife—why must he bow his head in shame in the midst of his rejoicing—what had he done?

Ned—what would they do? It had been hard enough to be with old Ned and feel his hand on his shoulder before—but now—

The days before sailing were full. Ned and Dick hardly spoke to each other. The minute he had learned through the company that Ned had left Chicago, Dick tried to reach Enid on the telephone—three thousand miles away—but it would be her voice—she must want to say something else to him. He'd tell her over the telephone that he loved her—loved her as he had never loved her before and that whatever she did about telling Ned would be all right—perhaps she would come to him with——and Ned was on his way—Plaza 33789 has been disconnected.

Disconnected—that was strange—why had their number been disconnected—where was Enid—what had happened to her?

"Enid's coming West while I'm gone."

But this New Year. This frightened her. This was real—not like a wood-rat on the roof or deer in the brush.

Where were Dick and Ned—this New Year's Eve? Panama, yes. The cable had indicated that. But what were they doing? Were they thinking of her? If only Ned wouldn't think of her, it would be better. But Dick—

Dick and Ned were at that moment in the Union Club in Panama—champagne, laughter, balloons, the orchestra going wild, everyone screaming, confetti, bells, rattles, streamers of green, red, purple paper ribbons, silly paper hats on everyone. Happy New Year. Happy New Year.

If he could only have reached her on the telephone that day from Chicago—"No, Mrs. Grier was not at home." Later he tried. "Mrs. Grier has not returned yet."

Later Ned would be there... those days on the train—"our baby." She had said that, "our baby." That was why she hadn't told Ned. Enid going to have a baby—his baby. Great God! Could this wonderful thing have come to him? Now she was his. Nothing could ever take her away from him. He raised her on even a higher pedestal and worshipped from far below.

He wished to shriek his joy—display his pride—tell everybody—this Enid was going to give him a child—his Enid—his love—his wife.

God—his wife—why couldn't

He thought. He couldn't ask Dave. Why should he be telephoning Enid in New York from San Francisco... Couldn't do anything. Hampered—restricted—forbidden to communicate with his beloved.

Where was she? Was she all right?

The day of sailing. He'd try again. He was out of his father's house by six o'clock in the morning. Very quietly he crept down the stairs—his mother would think it strange his going out at that hour if she heard him.

Six o'clock—nine o'clock New York. That may have been a mistake—those operators do make mistakes.

He put the call in. The lines would be clear now—this early. He waited. The operator in the hotel—between other calls said cheerfully: "Plaza 33789 is disconnected. Any other number?"

What did it all mean? And there was no way of his finding out.

It was not until a week later lying out on the hot deck of the steamer that Ned had spoken of it. "Enid's coming West while I am gone. She's going to Serana with Dave and Pauline. She was so miserable when I left. It was tough that I had to leave just at this time."

Just at this time—did he know—his hands suddenly started to perspire.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

Additional proof that Ronald Colman is one of the finest actors on the screen in this era of talking pictures arrived at the Cliftona Theatre Sunday in "Condemned!", his latest starring picture for Samuel Goldwyn. His performance of the handsome, gallant convict of this picture of life in prison accented just that combination of romantic appeal, understanding humor and genuine tragic appeal which have long been features of his acting.

The other members of the cast performed brilliantly as well. The producers seem to have ransacked the slums of California for criminal types in the mass scenes of the French convicts, and Ann Harding as the appealing heroine made good use of both her extraordinary blond beauty and acting talent, in a striking contrast with the sordid surroundings of the picture.

Louis Wolheim turned in another of those well worked out characterizations which have made his villainous countenance a proverb in films. Dudley Digges, noted stage actor, as the brutal warden, brings a fine flavor to his first picture, and is said to have had a hand in its direction as well. "Condemned!" would be an event in pictures even without the services of such a cast, since its locale and direction earn it an extraordinarily high place. Laid on Devil's Island, the notorious French penal colony on the coast of South America, it gave remarkable and well-exploited opportunities to director and scenarist to exploit the picturesque possibilities of "The Island of Living Death." Pictorially, it is even more striking than Colman's latest triumph "Bulldog Drummond." The sound effects achieved in the storm scene sequence and the remarkable flexibility of the dialogue and sound effects in general make it a new departure on the talking screen.

Children's shoes for children should be well-fitted, not too tight, and not too loose. They must be just right, or else they are all wrong. There should be plenty of room for the toes.

Stockings should be sufficiently long. This is necessary so as not to bind the foot and toes. The toes should not be crowded by the stockings. Quite as often the trouble may be traced to short stockings as to short shoes.

Children's shoes should be long enough. It is important not to crowd any part of the foot. The heels of the shoes should be kept straight, not worn over. The posture of the foot is ruined if the heels are not flat.

Don't put high heels on a young girl. They throw the body out of the correct posture. When she is older she will have to decide for herself, but in childhood, do you part to start the youngster right.

Children often have tired and aching feet at night. Much comfort will be given by bathing the feet for ten minutes in hot water to which salt has been added. Bathing the feet often is good for everyone. The toe nails should be cut straight across. It is bad to cut the corners, next to the side of the nail.

Have your child's feet examined once in a while by a good chiropodist, or podiatrist. It is just as important as to see the dentist.

Correct posture makes for good health. Correct shoes help good posture.

Everybody should know that foot exercises are useful. They bring foot health. Standing on the toes, standing on the edges of the feet—these exercises help to make the feet strong and capable.

Nothing can hurt more than an aching foot. It is a pity so many persons have tender feet. If these members were properly cared for in infancy and early childhood there would be less foot trouble in later life.

Shoes and stockings are important factors in promoting foot comfort and health. Little feet go running and jumping, skipping and climbing all day long. Is it any wonder that they get tired and ache at night?

ABANDONMENT NOT SOYBEAN LIABILITY

In weighing the comparative advantages of wheat and soybeans as a cash crop, the Ohio Farmer will do well to remember the factor of abandonment of wheat due to winter killing, suggests C. R. Arnold of the rural economics department of the Ohio State University. Soybeans have assumed a new importance as a cash crop in Ohio, through recent establishment of factories for converting the beans to industrial and other uses. With certain favoring factors the crop may successfully compete with wheat, which has heretofore been the principal cash crop of the state.

During the past eight years, according to reports of the United States Department of Agriculture, an average of more than 17 per cent of the winter wheat acreage in Ohio, has been abandoned because of winterkilling. In one year 64 per cent of the acreage was abandoned for this reason.

Since soybeans are planted in the spring they are not liable to this drawback. "Abandoned wheat acreage has usually been planted to oats, it is true," says Arnold. "But the owner has suffered loss nevertheless. He is out the cost of his seed wheat, possibly half the cost of his fertilizer, and all the labor involved in planting, although the seed bed preparation is not lost. Further, his program

Uses for Licorice

Licorice has not become a successful commercial crop in America. It grows wild over large areas in Spain, Italy, southern Russia, Asia Minor and southern Asia. This country, however, uses quantities of licorice. Ninety per cent of it finds its way into the tobacco industry, about 5 per cent into confectionery and about 5 per cent into medicine. Its principal medicinal use is to disguise the taste of acid drugs.

Jewish Symbol

The scroll hung on the doorway of every orthodox home is called, in Hebrew, a "mezuzah." The observance of this custom is in fulfillment of the command in Deuteronomy, the fifth book of Moses, "And they shall be upon thy doors." The scroll contains these words in Hebrew. It is a symbol of a Jewish home and a reminder of loyalty to religion.

Art and Hospital Room Discussed At Monday Club

Those who braved the icy pavements and attended the Monday Club last evening, felt repaid in listening to three fine papers, by Miss Weldon, Mrs. Ray Bales and Miss Miriam Ruggles.

"Romanesque 1100 A. D." was Miss Weldon's subject. She first gave a history of its background, especially in Italy. Romanesque architecture was the term for the art and culture of Europe, exclusive of the Eastern Empire and Russia from the time of 476 down to 1100 and 1300 A. D.

To Rome all previous history tends, from Rome all modern history springs. To her and to her arts, all inevitably turn, if not to admire, at least to learn.

Miss Ruggles' subject "Brunelleschi and His Period" was very interesting. In Florence the heart of education in art was paramount in 1500, after the terrible plague, models for two sets of bronze gates in memory of those who died, were called for, and the model of Brunelleschi was accepted over all others.

It took forty years to complete these gates. They were made of panels, each a scene from the Bible.

Mrs. Bales paper was very interesting and instructive. She gave the evolution of Gothic vaulting, and with a diagram explained the principal of the arch and the use of the keystone.

The arch was in use 4000 years ago, and its use was spread by the Romans over the entire world.

Mrs. Bales reminded the members that the new hangar at Akron, O., is the largest building in the world, without inside support, and made possible because of the principle of the arch.

At the business meeting of the club, the members voted to furnish a room at the new hospital. The president reminded the club members that the next meeting would be Feb. 3rd.

BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED AT FAMILY DINNER

At family dinner party Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Plum on N. Court-st., the betrothal of her sister, Miss Mary Jane Eaton, to Bishop Edgar Blake of Indianapolis, was announced. In addition to Bishop Blake from Indianapolis, guests, members of the family, were present from Columbus and Chillicothe.

Miss Eaton is the daughter of Mr. Charles Eaton of E. Corwin-st.

FAREWELL PARTY MONDAY NIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. Loring McAbee were hosts at a six o'clock dinner Monday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Moseley of E.

TALENTED MUSICAL ARTISTS INCLUDED IN CAST OF "PIGS"

Not only are the members of the "Pigs" cast—the Broadway comedy success to be shown here soon—talented professional players, but some are singers and entertainers as well.

Mrs. Shank was for years a well-known prima donna in light opera, an Edison recording artist; Miss McKisick is a radio singer and concert pianist.

Between the acts of the play will be given costume songs, "Arabian Nights" in song and story, "On the Road to Mandalay," and

EVA MCKISICK
"The Iowa Personality Girl"

"Madam Butterfly," all beautifully and appropriately costumed.

Miss Eva McKisick, actress and singer, won first prize in the Iowa Radio contest a year ago and received the title of the "Iowa Personality Girl." She plays the mother part in "Pigs." A recent theatrical and singing engagement was for the Publix Theatres in a coast to coast tour. She will be heard in a number of delightful specialty numbers.

Will This Bar Customs Comptroller?

This photograph of an alleged bar with empty liquor bottles and slot machines has been made public by G. Rowland Munroe, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, who says it is one of those made at the hunting lodge of Colonel Arthur F. Foran, comptroller of customs in New York. The Foran hunting lodge is at Mount Airy, Hunterdon County, N. J. Harold Nadel, a private investigator, is said to have looked through a window and seen the old-time bar, including bottles, cash register and slot machines.

CLUB PLANS CARD PARTY

The bi-monthly card party of the Business and Professional Women's club will be an event of Wednesday, January 29, at the home of Miss Sally Lynch on E. Main at 7:30 o'clock. These parties are being sponsored by the hospitality committee of the club, of which Miss Lynch is chairman. All members of the club are urged to join in the jolly game.

CONDITION IMPROVED

Mr. Sanford Wallace, formerly of Jackson-twp, who has been ill at the Lancaster hospital, was returned to his home last Sunday in the Smith ambulance. He is slowly improving now, at his home southeast of Amanda.

Hudson River

From New York bay to Albany the Hudson is really not a river at all, but a kind of fjord, formed by the sinking of the original river valley and its invasion by salt water. For this distance it is a tidal stream. Above Troy the river is a small stream with numerous rapids and falls.

One Tomb United

The tomb of Queen Hatet Heres I, mother of Cheops, c. 3900 B. C., was intact when found in March, 1923, by the Harvard University of Fine Arts expedition.

Personals

Mrs. Collis Young is substituting for Miss Margaret Mattinson Circleville High School. Miss Mattinson is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. J. R. Hedges and daughters of Ashville were Circleville visitors Monday.

Mrs. C. L. Davis and Mrs. Ralph Dennis of Mt. Sterling were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Alice Downs on S. Court-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Work and daughter, Julia Jane, have returned to Columbus after a week-end visit with her father, Mr. L. E. Davidson and Mrs. Davidson of Watt-st.

George Leist has returned to the hospital in Dayton after spending the week-end in Circleville with his family.

Miss Mary Angela Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Ryan of E. Ohio-st., who has been confined to her home the past week with illness, has recovered and returned to school Monday.

Drugs Easily Detected
Many drugs communicate their odor to the breath. Familiar examples are ether, chloroform and alcohol. The heavy narcotic smell of opium, the garlicky odor of phosphorus poisoning and the smell of peach kernels in hydro-cyanic acid poisoning are well known to physicians.

Full Fledged at Birth
The common house fly is full size when it hatches from the pupa, and does not grow any larger. When it hatches it is distorted and it takes from 15 to 30 minutes to straighten out. The fly is not sexually mature until from three to five days after it hatches.

FURNITURE STEP RIGHT UP AND MEET THE FOLKS

No matter if the temperature does the stock market act, no matter if wintry blizzards blow—inside their homes the weather is as rare as a day in June used to be. Balmey breathable air circulates in every room. Cozy comfort camps in every corner. Step right up and meet the folks; they are members of the "Enjoy-It-Now" Club; their homes are Heatrola heated.

And what we mean, they are Enjoying-It-Now. And what we mean if you want to experience the advantages of this wonderful Club—you'd better hurry. Only two more days and membership will be closed for another year. Just keep in mind that we are conducting the most extraordinary heating offer ever offered you. Come in for details. But if you can't come in before closing time Saturday night, save yourself the trouble, it will be too late then.

We might as well mention the terms, $10.00 to $20.00 for your old stove to apply on the purchase price of a genuine Heatrola. Then, only $25 down, and not another cent do you pay until Fall when easy monthly payments begin. Or pay our low cash price on or before Sept. 1, 1930.

And then, for Cleaning Day—how about a Bee Vac Vacuum Cleaner? If you want to learn the kind of performance a Bee Vac gives, call up and ask for a trial.

There are two sides to every question yours and the foolish one.

Mae Hudnell says if insects can't think, how does a fly know when you reach for a swatter instead of a sweet?

Clarence Melson and "Pete" Price, employed by the Circleville Lumber Co., this city, are a couple of crafts-men that are hard to beat. They are always doing something with wood that is unique and, to the ordinary man, a very difficult piece of work. Clarence has just finished a smoking stand that is very unusual. It is made of curly maple and burl walnut, containing 611 pieces of these two beautiful woods. He says that he put 42 hours of labor on this article. This unique piece of work may be seen at our store. Come in and see it. Yes, Clarence has a price on it.

"What makes the world go round and round, Pop?"
"Oscar, how many times must I tell you to stay out of that cellar?"

over WJZ and the NEC and the Joe West, of Williamsport, said it was mean of us not to hold over the E-I-N Campaign at least until Hedgehog Day, so he had the straight dope on the cold weather to come. So we gave him the straight dope without benefit of Hedgehog and now that there's a Heatrola in his home, he doesn't care if the hedgehog does his stuff or not.

By the way, we have a lot of old-stove bargains. Want one?

Stage manager of very poor revue (hearing sudden outburst of laughter) "Gosh, is the comedian actually putting a joke over?"

Scene-shifter (peering up stage) —"No, it's a bit of scenery fell on 'is' head."

Always anxious to serve our customers with the very best that the market affords in the line of conveniences and comforts, we have just taken over the agency for PYROFAX gas. This will enable those living beyond the gas mains to enjoy the use of Estate Gas Ranges no matter where you might be living. Expensive? Not very. Any trouble or delays in getting the fire to burn? None. You light it like you would city gas, no waiting to generate. Why not drop in, you folks that live in the country and talk it over before spring opens up?

Would you care to be a guest in your own GUEST ROOM? Look it over and see it the way you guests see it. Remember —FIRST furnish your HOME, it tells what you are.

A customer, who lives out on East Main St., this city, called at our store Saturday night and told H. G. that she and her husband slept on a link fabric bed-spring, and that they had a "crimp" in their necks due to the sagging of the spring. We sold her a DE LUXE, of course, because we believe it to be one of the best, if not the very best, bed-spring on the market. Now, these folks will sleep in a natural position and will arise refreshed in the morning. Does YOUR bed-spring make you double up in the middle like a jack-knife? Better look after it right now. Put a DE LUXE on your bed and enjoy real sleeping comforts.
